Stephane Wuttunee on IPR!

An Interview with the creator of Dreaming the Pyramid!

(May 2009) On April 19, 2009, Patricia Gardner and Dayna Winters had the opportunity to interview Stephane Wuttunee on ISIS Paranormal Radio. Wuttunee is a Plains Cree and French Canadian author and webmaster who experienced a spiritual awakening in the early 1990s. He began dreaming of humanity's past, various mathematical symbols, and pyramid shapes similar to the ones found in Egypt. This led him to undertake a journey that involved over 4,500 miles of wilderness canoeing, as well as living out of a backpack and traveling for ten years.

Insights imparted by his travels and research as well as Indigenous elders from around the world became the basis for Dreaming the Pyramid. The premise behind Dreaming the Pyramid is that we as well as our Extraterrestrial brethren and God co-created the Universe and left proof of our divine nature and purpose within the design of Egypt's Great Pyramid. According to Wuttunee, the Pyramid represents humans as immortal, divine, omniscient, and androgynous beings.

On Crystals....

"Two thirds of our total body mass is water (and to a far lesser degree, minerals). These elements are, in turn, subject to the geological processes of crystallization. Simply being alive prevents these elements from cooling down, solidifying, and forming crystal lattices at cold temperatures. We are therefore, liquid crystal beings."

Dayna attended Sage from 2004 to 2007, majored in English, has since earned her Bachelor's in Arts degree, and graduated magna cum laude. The article is entitled, "Hermetic/Cabalistic Ritual in Christopher Marlowe's Doctor Faustus," and is the Honors project she completed in her senior year in order to graduate with English program honors.

The arguments set forth in the project assert that Christopher Marlowe, a Renaissance playwright and the author of The Tragical History of the Life and Death of Doctor Faustus (Doctor Faustus), includes a fragmented ritual throughout the text. When the Latin verse in the play is extracted and put together in the order that the verses first appear within the text, the verses can be interpreted as a Hermetic/Cabalistic ritual that includes a statement of ritual intent, a conjuration, an excommunication, and a period of ritual ecstasy. The 33 page article also argues that the fragmented ritual is heavily influenced by the works of Heinrich Cornelius Agrippa, a renowned Renaissance magician and occultist, and further examines Marlowe's possible motivations for fragmenting a ritual within the text.

The JSM took considerable time to make it to press due to the time involved in conducting several peer reviews, and final edits. The journal was recently released this March by Mandrake of Oxford: an independent publisher located in Oxford, England. The JSM Issue 5 is presently sold by Mandrake of Oxford publications and is also available on Amazon.com. Back issues of the JSM are also available.

Dwayne Claud on IPR!

An Interview with a demonologist and the founder of WNYParanormal!

(May 2009) In March and April, Patricia and Dayna interviewed Dwayne Claud, a demonologist and the author of Baptism By Fire, Rochester Haunts, and the DVD Demonic Haunting. Dwayne has appeared in a number of television and radio shows including the Maury Show, and is the founder of Western New York Paranormal of Rochester and Buffalo. WNYParanormal is recognized as a non-profit corporation by New York State and the Internal Revenue Service. The group was formed as a resource for Western New York that would provide educational and investigative services for suspected paranormal activity limited to reports of ghosts, hauntings, poltergeist and life after death encounters. The group places special emphasis on darker, demonic hauntings.

Dwayne had his first demonic experience ten years ago, and now works to help others having similar experiences. Tonight he will be sharing with us some information with us about his investigative techniques, his experiences, encounters, and work.

Wuttunee asserts that when people achieve states of awareness which are heightened, they are then composed of eight different elements including the four primal elements of Air, Fire, Water, and Earth, the Zodiacal signs, a hidden thirteenth sign which contains all other Zodiacal signs, crystals, the chakras, the third eye, the Kundalini, and that we are spiritually androgynous.

The Psychological Signs of Demonic Possession

The psychological signs of demonic possession should not be confused with mental illness and should, in fact, be separated from the common signs associated with mental illnesses. The demonologist will want to make every effort to determine whether the symptoms an individual is displaying might somehow be related to a mental illness before proceeding to spiritual means in an effort to clean the individual of a demonic spirit. It is important to note that all of the symptoms do not have to be present at once, and some symptoms may appear while others may not. Many symptoms are also accompanied by a number of physical manifestations, not discussed in depth in this terse explanation about psychological symptoms.

Demon possession documented in cases around the world are not centered on one particular religion. Demon possession documented by demonologists and exorcists from all around the globe present a number of similar psychological indications that something is greatly amiss. It should be noted that this article is not intended for the purposes of a psychological evaluation and analysis and that if an individual believes that he or she might be possessed, contacting an individual that specializes in psychology as well as in spiritual warfare is highly recommended. This article is however, generated in an effort to identify the commonly reported psychological signs of demonic possession in legitimate cases of demonic possession from around the world...
